

Thanks to your generosity, several laptops, along with surge protectors and laptop locks, have been distributed to language projects in Botswana, Sierra Leone, Cameroon, and Ethiopia. Whether an upgrade or replacement for failing units, these new computers ensure that translation will continue to progress while newer projects are now equipped to begin in-depth translation work.

New missionary Tiffany Smith also received a laptop to assist with preparations for her first assignment. Camera equipment was supplied to LBT's partner, the Ethiopian Evangelical Church Mekane Yesus. This will be used to create materials for translation and literacy projects administered by the church.

As translation advisor Rev. Carl Grulke notes, "Technology is a wonderful blessing. Without translation management software and video conferencing programs, we could not do our work." Thank you for your gifts to meet this essential ongoing need.
