New Testament Translation

PROGRESS

- Developed and expanded translation software skills.
- Team review of Acts completed in preparation for community testing.

PRAYERS

- Pray for health and safety for the translation team.
- Pray for more opportunities to visit churches to share about the translation work.
- Pray that the team training in translation principles continues to go well.

Thank you for your gifts to the Kerewe translation. Great things are happening!

Significant progress has been made on the book of Acts. Team members continue to refine their skills through training and translation principles and software. There are also plans to promote community involvement in the project. "We don't want to hide this great work in an office somewhere," said translation supervisor Rev. Oscar Lema. Let us get out into the community and share this Word of God with everyone!"

The team is working on a small publication that will make the Kerewe translations of Jonah, Luke and Acts available to the community. In addition to the print version, these translations will be put into a Scripture app so people will be able to read and listen to God's word in Kerewe on their phones.
