PROGRESS

- Liberia Translation and Literacy Organization built an office to meet their current and future needs.
- Plans are being made for a future building for The Institute of Sierra Leonean Languages.

PRAYERS

- Pray for The Institute of Sierra Leonean Languages as they plan and prepare to build.
- Pray for productive relationships between Lutheran Bible Translators and partners.
- Pray for partners to receive the training and funds necessary to grow.

Your gifts provided funding for the Liberia Translation and Literacy Organization (LIBTRALO) to build a large office building, including designated spaces for Scripture engagement: an auditorium for events and workshops and recording studio for radio programming! The Institute of Sierra Leonean Languages (TISLL) is designing a four-story sustainable building. Income-generating rental space for conferences, retail, and apartments, and an entire floor dedicated to literacy and Scripture engagement.

LIBTRALO and TISLL, formed through Lutheran Bible Translators, grew into partner organizations. Owning buildings for language work provides the dedicated space needed and increases the language teams' ability to expand service into the future. Regional Director David Federwitz said, "In these countries, it's really important that our partners get on the map, that they can be found, and seen as professional."
