SABELTO* CHRISTIANS HAVE SUFFERED PERSECUTION over the last two millennia. They have been displaced all over the globe. Their community languages have evolved into unique vernaculars. Older versions of Scripture are no longer intelligible to modern speakers.

The Sabelto's three distinct language communities have all received the New Testament in the past five years and have initiated a translation of the Old Testament.

Sabelto Christians resettled in refugee camps. They will receive hope as they access God's Word. The full Bible will serve as a foundation for outreach programs as well as strengthening believers in the church. When the three language communities have the Old Testament in their language, pastors will be empowered to share the liturgy and Bible studies without linguistic explanation.

Put God's Word in their hands.
