A New Job

It's been about a month now since I started my new position at The Greenhouse (growing children, not plants) and I'm really enjoying it! We have about 30 students ranging in age from preschool to grade 6.

I currently spend the mornings working as an aid in the K/1 class for a special needs student who recently joined the school. We are working on communication, fine motor skills, letters, numbers, and more. This student also loves music, so we are doing a lot of learning through song!

In the afternoons I rotate between teaching music, subbing for teachers who have meetings or need extra prep time, helping in the library, and creating resources to aid in early literacy, numeracy, and vocabulary.

Towards the end of the school year, I will take over for the K/1 teacher, as she will be going on maternity leave. Next school year, I will have my own classroom! Which teachers are being assigned to which grades has not been assigned yet, as it shifts yearly, but I am excited for whichever adventure God sends my way!

A New Home

Moving from Ngaoundere down to Yaounde has certainly been an adjustment. Let me unleash my inner teacher and make a Venn Diagram:

Despite all the changes, I feel settled now. I'm currently living in a missionary compound, and the sense of community is incredible. I'm starting to make friends, and several of the moms have intentionally checked in on me to make sure I had everything I needed and was dealing with the transition okay.

Prayer Requests

- Pray for help for this snow-loving Canadian woman to adjust to the high heat and humidity of life in Yaounde
- Thank God for the caring community around me
- Pray that God will continue to help me navigate work/life balance in my new role
- Praise the Lord for the work The Greenhouse does in supporting missionary families here in Cameroon
- Pray for wisdom and patience for me in teaching so many young minds
